

The wonderful thing about snakes is...

snakes have no

Legs!

Lots of animals have four legs.

Birds have two legs.
Flamingos think they have one.

Can a snake wear
shoes?

No! They have no feet.

Can a snake wear
gloves?

No! They have no hands.

Can a snake wear a scarf?

Well, maybe a very long one.

A large, hand-drawn white circle with a rough, textured border is centered on a solid teal background. The circle's interior is white, and the text is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font within this space.

If snakes don't walk or run,
how do they move around?

They slither!

Snakes have tiny belly muscles that wiggle up and down, and their bodies go side to side.

They can slither very fast, or very slow.
They can slither on
the ground, up a tree,
or in the water.

Can a snake
slither in the air?

No! They have no wings.

Can a snake slither in space?

That's a silly question.

They can twist their bodies

into lots of shapes,

and they can
certainly win a race!

That's the wonderful thing
about snakes.
